

Richard Jung, Ed. D. is founder and Senior Partner for Education Access Strategies (EAS), which provides assistance to independent schools and non-profit organizations through various consulting services. Over seventy-five independent schools and non-profit organizations, primarily in the Mid-Atlantic and Midwest regions, have consulted with EAS for aid in head of school searches and related leadership transition situations. In July of 2015, Dr. Jung began serving as the Executive Director of the Associations of Independent Schools of Greater Washington (AISGW). Dr. Jung has led some of the nation's finest college-preparatory schools.
